

2023 FALL LEGISLATIVE FLY-IN

Exploring Washington, DC

Museums & Exhibits

Washington, DC, is home to dozens of free Smithsonian museums in addition to the National Mall and Memorial Parks. Some exhibits to consider visiting at those two spots include FOOD: Transforming the American Table and Cultivate: Growing Food in a Changing World.

- National Museum of American History, 1300 Constitution Avenue NW United States
- Botanic Garden Conservatory, 100 Maryland Avenue SW

Restaurants & Markets

Washington, DC, offers a wide variety of restaurants and markets, and some even have direct connections to Farmers Union. Founding Farmers, Farmers and Distillers, and Farmers Fishers Bakers are three restaurants collectively-owned by North Dakota Farmers Union and other members of the Farmers Union family.

- Founding Farmers, 1924 Pennsylvania Ave NW
- Farmers & Distillers, 600 Massachusetts Ave NW
- Farmers Fishers Bakers, 3000 K Street NW

Union Market and Eastern Market are both public markets featuring prepared food and fresh food from local producers, along with eclectic and stylish retail.

- Eastern Market, 225 7th St SE
- Union Market, 1309 5th St NE

Farms & Gardens

Washington, DC, is home to a few urban farms, many of which host events and tours of their property. Consider reaching out to City Blossoms and Three Part Harmony Farm to learn more about opportunities before arriving.

You can also experience the District's agricultural outputs at the DC State Fair on Sunday, September 10 from 10am-5pm in Franklin Park.